

universität wien

Hersch Lauterpacht and Otto Wächter: two law students at the University of Vienna

Symposium

6 December 2019, 18:00-20:00

U11, Juridicum, Schottenbastei 10-16, 1010 Vienna

Photo: Lauterpacht Centre for International Law, University of Cambridge

Photo: Wikimedia Commons

Philippe Sands

Philippe Sands QC is Professor of Law at University College London and a practising barrister at Matrix Chambers. He appears as counsel before the ICJ and ICC and sits as an arbitrator at ICSID, the PCA and the CAS. He is author of Lawless World (2005) and Torture Team (2008) and several academic books on international law, and has contributed to the New York Review of Books, Vanity Fair, the Financial Times and The Guardian. East West Street: On the Origins of Crimes Against Humanity and Genocide (2016) won the 2016 Baillie Gifford (formerly Samuel Johnson) Prize, the 2017 British Book Awards Non-Fiction Book of the Year, and the 2018 Prix Montaigne. The sequel, The Ratline, will be published in 2020 and is also the subject of a BBC podcast. Sands is President of English PEN and a member of the Board of the Hay Festival.

Symposium

In 1919, two men enrolled at the University of Vienna Faculty of Law and later went on to pursue very different careers. While Hersch Lauterpacht became one of the most eminent scholars of International Law in the 20th century, holding the famous Whewell Chair at the University of Cambridge and being a Member of the International Law Commission and Judge at the International Court of Justice, Otto Wächter rose to the upper ranks of the Nazi party. Wächter was involved as an illegal Nazi in the 1934 assassination of Dollfuss in Vienna, later became the Governor of first Krakow and then Distrikt Galizien, based in Lemberg, Lauterpacht's town of origin. Lauterpacht was a prosecutor at the Nuremberg trial, while Wächter, who was indicted for international crimes, was never caught and died in 1949 while on the run in Rome. The keynote speech of Philippe Sands will juxtapose these different life paths, drawing on his book "East-West Street" and a new project, "The Ratline".

Programme

18:15: Welcome Address

by the Vice-Dean of the Faculty of Law, Professor Franz-Stefan Meissel

18:20: Stories of Exile, Persecution and Death in the East: historical remarks

Introductory Remarks by Professor Kerstin von Lingen,
Department of Contemporary History

18:30: Hersch Lauterpacht and Otto Wächter: two lives, from Vienna, 1919, to Cambridge and Rome, 1949

Keynote Speech by Professor Philippe Sands, QC, London

19:10: Stories of International Law and International Crimes

A Conversation between Professors Philippe Sands and Miloš Vec,
Department of Legal and Constitutional History

19:30: Open Forum with the Audience

Department of Contemporary History

University of Vienna

Spitalgasse 2, 1090 Vienna

univie.ac.at/zeitgeschichte

Department of Legal and Constitutional History

University of Vienna

Juridicum, Schottenbastei 10-16, 1010 Vienna

rechtsgeschichte.univie.ac.at/en